Worldview of Worldviews: What the Christian Worldview Means for our Teaching and Learning at Concordia

Led by Dr. Susan Mobley (History) and Dr. Jason Lane (Theology) on September 28 in Mequon.

The University Liberal Arts Outcomes (ULAOs) include a learning outcome on worldview proficiency. This session introduces faculty to an understanding of how a Christian worldview informs teaching and learning and includes practical examples of how to integrate a Christian worldview in classroom discussions in multiple disciplines.

Here is the recording and handouts from that session:

Free live-streamed presentation from Utah Valley University - Preventing Plagiarism: Detecting, Deterring, and Designing

Presented by Judy Carroll

Monday October 3, 1:00-2:00

This is not a CELT program. It is open to the public and presented by a well-known expert in this area.

Link to view the live talk: <https://youtu.be/BaDICSNs5dk>

More about the presenter: <http://www.uvu.edu/otl/academicintegrity/>

A couple things to mention:

- There is going to be a 20-30 second delay during the livestream.
- There will be a live chat option during the stream. If you want to use that feature, you'll have to log in to your Google account and open YouTube to have access to the chat. If you don't want to participate in the chat, you can still watch the livestream without logging in.
- They are broadcasting through the Wi-Fi connection on campus, so there might be some video-lag during the livestream, however, the sound shouldn't be affected.

"Together Set Apart"

(Jesus prayed), "Sanctify them in the truth; your word is truth. As you sent me into the world, so I have sent them into the world. And for their sake I consecrate myself, that they also may be sanctified in truth. I do not ask for these only, but also for those who will believe in me through their word, that they may all be one, just as you, Father, are in me, and I in you, that they also may be in us, so that the world may believe that you have sent me."

John 17:17-21
